

What's coming up and how you can get involved.

Welcome back to 2008, and all good wishes for a happy and successful year.

Exhibitions

Our new season opens on 26 January with some fantastic cross curricular links to art, D&T and maths through the work of Kenneth and Mary Martin. Systems such as the Fibonacci series are the basis for shimmering hanging mobiles and mirrored 3D wall reliefs. This is an accessible exhibition that will engage students of all ages.

Find details about arranging a visit on our website, www.dlwp.com/education/schools

Kenneth Martin & Mary Martin

26 January – 20 April 2008

Two of the foremost British abstract artists of the 20th century, known particularly for the use of mathematical systems in their work.

Curriculum links: art, design, maths, architecture

Teachers' notes available on our website, www.dlwp.com/education/resources.htm

Unpopular Culture, curated by Grayson Perry

Kate Adams, new work

10 May – 6 July 2008

Eccentric Turner Prize-winning potter Grayson Perry will present a personal selection of photography, sculpture and painting from the 1940s - 1970s, selected from the Arts Council Collection alongside some of his own work, depicting 'Englishness'.

Hastings based artist Kate Adams presents new mixed media work exploring our sense of perception.

Curriculum links: art, design, media, citizenship

Nathan Coley

26 July – 21 September 2008

Nominated for the 2007 Turner Prize, Nathan Coley's work is based around an interest in public space, and addresses issues such as the importance of place, the social value of architecture and the meaning and relevance of contemporary monuments.

Curriculum links: art, D&T, geography, citizenship, architecture and the built environment.

Tours and Workshops

Engaging tours and practical workshops are available all year round, focusing on both the exhibitions and on the Pavilion itself and its architecture. Download information on our core offer to schools from our website, www.dlwp.com/schools

CPD

Creative Teachers Network

Open to all teachers and other staff interested in developing their creative skills and knowledge, and networking with like-minded colleagues.

Creative Systems

Using the Martin's exhibition as a starting point, this session will explore a cross curricular approach to art and maths. With artist Sharon Haward.

Free twilight session

Thursday 28 February, 4-6pm at the De La Warr Pavilion

To book a place, contact Natalie Trimby

Tel: 01424 229103 or email: natalie.trimby@dlwp.com

Projects

Working Our Way 2

This term we will be starting an exciting programme of work with Bexhill's primary schools exploring how the Pavilion can be a resource for creative education. Partnership projects bringing together artists and teachers will feed into a 'toolkit' of ideas and approaches to working with the Pavilion that will be shared with schools throughout the region. Watch this space for developments.

Funded by the Paul Hamlyn Foundation, Creative Partnerships Hastings & East Sussex, the Bexhill Consortium and the Pavilion.

News

DLWP Studio

Our new studio space will be coming into use this term providing improved facilities for workshops, talks and seminars. Why not come to the Creative Teachers' Network session and have a look around.

Check our website regularly for details and updates on all our programme and activities

www.dlwp.com

The Pavilion is a fantastic resource for the region and we are committed to making our building and programme as accessible as possible for schools and colleges.

We hope to see you soon.

Polly Gifford

Head of Education

Direct Line: 01424 229133

Email: polly.gifford@dlwp.com

