

LOOK-THINK-MAKE ACTIVITY MAP

Enjoy investigations and activities in the Ground Floor Gallery, plus ideas to try at home!

This exhibition, IN A DREAM YOU SAW A WAY TO SURVIVE AND YOU WERE FULL OF JOY, is made up of over 50 artworks, including photographs, drawings, sculptures and films. The artworks are arranged in four sections: SLEEPING, WORKING, DANCING and MOURNING. Through these themes, the exhibition explores horizontality.

AT HOME: MAKE a dream journal. DRAW or WRITE your dreams for a week, begin each entry with IN A DREAM I SAW ...

POST a photograph of your drawing or writing to our Facebook page #dreamdiary

LOOK for small drawings of icebergs. THINK about when these drawings were made and why. MARK on the globe where icebergs form.

How many hours a day do you spend in a horizontal position?

Can you describe your preparations for sleep? Where do you sleep?

What percentage of an iceberg is hidden under water.....

Why is that?

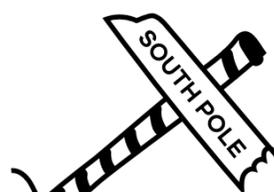

LOOK for a sculpture, photograph or drawing of a sleeping person. Can you copy this pose? THINK about who the sleeping person might be, who the artist is and how the artwork was made.

DRAW or WRITE the dream this person might be having here.

DRAW some animals that live in the South Pole.

AT HOME: INVENT your own dance routine and MAKE a special costume to create and exaggerate your silhouette using layers of clothes, paper or fabric.

POST a photograph of your costume to our Facebook page #serpentine dance

LOOK for the sculpture of Eleanor of Aquitaine. This is a copy of the effigy which marks her burial place in Fontevrault Abbey. THINK about how we remember and celebrate people who have died, in sculptures, songs, books and plays. MAKE a line drawing of this sculpture, like the nearby ink drawing by Oswald Tschirtner.

POST a photograph of your drawings to our page #AntarcticAnimals

WRITE a poem, using rhyme or repeating words to express the movements, pace and shapes of your dance.

AT HOME: WRITE and PERFORM a play with Eleanor's ghost as the central character.

POST a photograph of your performance to our Facebook page #ghostofeleanor

AT HOME: MAKE your own mini iceberg by placing a bag or container of water in your freezer overnight. When the water is frozen, remove it from the container and float it in a shallow bath or basin of saltwater. WATCH it change shape.

LOOK for the film of a colourful dancer spinning and twirling. THINK about when and how the film was made. Can you FOLLOW the movements of the dancer?
